INTERESTING AB-705 FACTS

You are far more likely to pass transfer-level Math and English if you start at or near transfer-level.

Your transcripts are the best predictor of your likelihood to succeed at transfer-level courses.

Skipping remedial courses gives students of color a higher chance of graduating, especially LatinX and Black students.

You can get extra help in your English and Math courses through:

English support classes: ENG-105, ENG-1L, EVC Campus Tutoring for English courses, Math and Science Resource Center, embedded tutors in your classroom, EVC workshops, counseling, Early Alert and many other wrap-around support programs and services.
